

Integra Dance Arts Dress Code

Dance, like many other activities, requires a specific dress code or uniform to create the safest and most appropriate training a student can receive. In dance specifically it is inherent that dancers' body alignment is visible for correction, they have the ability to move freely through steps, and they are not distracted or held back due to the items they are wearing. As dance genres vary, to some extent so does their individual dress code requirement. For this reason Integra Dance Arts has provided the following in depth dress code document for all students and parents to review and keep in mind during their training at this institution.

No jewelry except stud like earrings or those of medical necessity are allowed in any class. Likewise, hair must be cleanly pulled back and non disruptive to the dancer. All clothing for contemporary dance styles must be athletic and/or dancewear; no loungewear or school wear is allowed. In addition, no exposed midriffs or overall inappropriate or otherwise sexual in nature attire will be tolerated.
